Attendance Counts! Every Day, Every One!

Families can make a difference! From a child's first day of formal schooling, the family can set the expectation that school attendance matters to you and that you won't allow an absence unless someone is truly sick.

We understand that children will get sick and need to stay home occasionally. The important thing is to get your children to school as much as possible.

People tend to grow concerned only about students who miss consecutive days of school, but occasional absences can be just as disruptive as they can add up before you know it – just two to three days a month can add up to nearly 10 percent of the school year.
